BRIEF INFORMATION

Climate

Seychelles enjoys a pleasant tropical climate all year long: The islands lie outside the cyclone belt and there are no extremes of weather. The temperature seldom drops below 24 degrees or rises above 33 degrees Celsius. During the north-west trade winds that blow between the months of October and May the sea is generally calm and the weather hot and humid. This is the best time of the year for diving and other water sports. When the south-east trade winds blow, the weather is generally drier and cooler, with rougher seas, particularly on south-eastern coasts. However short-lived tropical downpours can occur at any time of the year.

Health Regulations

Seychelles is proud to be a disease-free environment: there is NO risk of contracting malaria or yellow fever.
